- Back up batteries for fire panel must be replaced when contract starts and must be maintained and tested.

Quarterly and annual services /maintenance on all fire detection systems listed above will be as follows:

Quarterly Service:

- Log book analysis Prepare for testing by reading through the log book. Any corrective action that has not yet been taken should be noted and carried out during the service.
- Service and pre-service check Use the panel menu to take a print out of all the sensors that are in a "service" or "pre-service" condition. This indicates that they are contaminated. Exchange these points with replacement units where necessary, set to the same address. Dirty sensors can be sent for cleaning.
- Analogue values check Use the panel menu to generate printer reports of device analogue values. Compare these values to the permitted values for each point. Replace faulty devices or repair wiring.
- Configuration check Connect "Planner" to the panel and print out a complete system configuration from the panel software. Compare this to the system specification and verify that the system zoning, input output mapping and other settings have not been changed.
- Test the alarms Test one sensor or cellpointer in each zone. Activate each point in turn, checking that the sounders/sirens are operational and that the panel reacts correctly.
- Check that signals to auxiliary systems such as the Fire Station, air-conditioning, building management systems, graphics displays or remote indicators, all function correctly.
- Fault tests Remove one sensor in the system and check that the panel correctly reports the event. Accept the fault, replace the sensor and reset the panel.
- Panel controls test Check that all control functions are operating correctly.
- Monitor earth leakage On systems with the earth leakage monitoring enabled, this feature should be tested. Apply a short (create a fault) between the positive leg of the Z-loop and earth, checking that the panel indicates an earth leakage fault. Repeat, using the negative leg of the Z-loop.
- Connection tests Make sure that all terminal screws are tight and cables inside the panel are secure. Check that all printed circuit boards (PCB's) appear to be in good working condition, are free of dust and securely mounted in the panel.
- Battery replacement checks Make sure that the battery installed is sufficient to meet the system specifications. If not, then replace it with a suitable one.
- Check if the battery replacement date will be passed before the next service. If so, replace the battery. The age of the battery should be marked on it with a label, or refer to the logbook. Batteries should be replaced at least every four years, or more frequently in high temperature environments. Refer to manufacturer literature.
- Battery operation checks Check that the battery is healthy. One method is to conduct an "all-sounders on" operational test with the mains off and the system running on batteries. This will test the batteries under a full load. The battery voltage should be monitored during this test and should not fall below 24 volts.

- Remove one battery terminal and verify that the system reports a battery fault. Replace terminal, ensure that it is tight, and reset the panel. Clean the battery with a damp cloth and lightly lubricate any exposed terminals with petroleum jelly if necessary.
- Time and Date set Set the correct time and date on the panel, if necessary.
- Completion of service Restore the system to normal condition, re-enable any disabled devices, reconnect any disconnected devices, re-connect all external systems that were disconnected for the testing, and ensure that the system is left in a 100% working condition. Advise all staff and the remote manned centre that testing is complete, and that any alarm now received must be treated as real.

Annual Service:

The annual service includes:

- Input Output configuration test Using a fairly large representative sample, verify by testing that the input-output mapping operates as programmed. Activate an input, such as a sensor, call point, or interface unit, and verify that the correct outputs operate. Also check that the outputs function correctly, for example, that they pulse, or operate continuously, that any delays operate correctly, etc.
- Building changes check Visually check that the internal structural layout of the building, including inter-office partitioning, has not changed from the system specification to such an extent that it may affect the efficient operation of the fire alarm system.
- Completion of service Restore the system to normal condition, re-enable disabled devices, re-connect any disconnected devices, re-connect all external systems that were disconnected for the testing, and ensure that the system is left in 100% working condition. Advise all staff and the remote manned centre that testing is complete, and that any alarm now received must be treated.

C.3.2 SPECIFICATIONS

1. Performance Specification

2. General

The contractor's performance will be measured against the following four parameters:

- I. Minimum incidence of faults
- II. Minimum down-time
- III. Good record and housekeeping
- IV. Optimal service costs

Operational efficiency will be evaluated against the standard set out above. The statistics will be recorded and set out in the monthly report submitted to the Districts, by the contractor.

3. Performance Standard

The contractor shall restore the system and maintain it to ensure the successful operation thereof. For this purpose, the minimum requirements shall be an availability of the overall system at each of the sites of 95% for fire protection system.

Availability shall be defined as:

Availability = $(Ti - tdi) \times 100$

Ti

Where:

- Ti = the length of the time interval i for the applicable month under consideration expressed in hours
- Tdi = the total of the MTTR'S for the site duration the time interval i for the applicable month under consideration expressed in hours
- MTTR = the mean time to repair the system as determined from the fault/service/repair log-book and shall be equivalent to the sum of all the times that the system or any part of the system does not conform to the operational requirements.

Example Calculation:

Month of April has 30 days @ 24 hours = 720 hours for 24 hours operation per day Ti = 720 hours

During the month 3 breakdowns occurred, each with response time of 9 hours and a repair time of 5 hours

Sum of MTTR's = $3 \times (9 + 5) = 42$..tdi = 42 hours

Therefore, Availability = $720 - 42 \times 100$ = 94%

720

The onus shall rest on the contractor to submit the necessary motivation to the Department for its consideration and decision for MTTR periods, that the contractor considers to have been caused by factors outside his control and which should not be included in the calculations, e.g. malicious damage, lightning etc. Actual equipment must be presented as proof on site before being removed and repairs undertaken.

The final availability of the system will be measured separately at each of the Regions over a period of thirty day intervals. The final availability in terms of the contract shall be :

Availability = $(720 - td) \times 100$

720

Where td is the sum of all MTTR's for the sites during the 30 day period under consideration expressed in hours.

4. Guarantee of Performance

The contractor shall guarantee the performance availability of the system as determined in paragraph 1.2 above. In the event of the contractor failing to achieve the specified system availability, the contractor shall pay a penalty of R500.00 per percentage point per month that the availability is below the specified availability figure.

Apart from the specified availability it is a requirement of this contract that the contractor shall respond within sis (6) hours to any call-out. An amount of R500.00 per hour will be deducted for every hour that the response time is exceeded.
